

Brewing Technology Expert

Halong Beer is a well-established industrial brewer with 38 years of development, operating two breweries with a total capacity of ~100 million liters per year. Our portfolio spans from mainstream to premium segments, with Halong Legend positioned as a premium line produced on modern brewing systems with international expertise. We are also recognized as a Vietnam National Brand.

This is a key, hands-on expert role focused on elevating brewing technology standards, standardizing SOPs, strengthening operational control, improving CAPA, and ensuring consistent product quality across the system.

We are looking for experienced professionals from leading brewing groups, with strong practical expertise and willingness to work onsite in Vietnam. The compensation package is flexible and aligned with the candidate's experience and expectations.
